This section is an information source for schools and others supporting young people planning their future pathways and transitions. Specific information is also included to support young people who require more specialised pathway planning and support. The resources offered here are appropriate for use across the secondary years.

Acknowledging a shared responsibility for preparing and supporting young people to realise their vision for the future, this section highlights the new and emerging partnerships between schools, parents, other education and training providers, business, industry, governments and communities.
